Flourishing business is a county winner in training

Human resources consultancy Flourishing People, of West Wrating, has been recognised by Business Link Cambridgeshire as an official provider of its Winning Leaders scheme.

The scheme is aimed at managing directors of businesses in Cambridgeshire employing between 20 and 250 staff, who could receive a grant of £1,000 towards the cost of further training.

Jacqui Burke of Flourishing People, said: "In a lot of situations the person at the top of the company tends to neglect their own development."

She said MDs could take part in courses teaching them how to deal with their staff, how to work with other senior executives or how to take their company forward.

Flourishing People will meet with businesses to assess whether or not they are eligible for the grant and then carry out what they call 360 degree feedback.

Managers assess their own performance and training needs and members of their staff submit their own assessments to Flourishing People, anonymously.

The information is brought together to create a personal leadership development scheme.
